

Japan Stands with Ukraine

Japan's continued support for Ukraine

Japan continues to stand with Ukraine

To convey Japan's continued support for Ukraine to President Volodymyr Zelenskyy in person, Prime Minister KISHIDA Fumio visited Kyiv in March 2023, two months ahead of holding the G7 Hiroshima Summit. To restore international peace and order, Japan has continued to provide a wide range of assistance, taking advantage of its experience and expertise.

Ukrainian evacuee and tsunami-hit city share bond of empathy

A Ukrainian woman who fled the Russian invasion found herself in Ishinomaki, a city devastated by the giant earthquake of March 2011. Warmly supported by the local people, she speaks about the importance of human life and her desire for peace.

Leveraging Japan's disaster experience for Ukraine's reconstruction

Russia's aggression against Ukraine wages on. One company technologically capable of assisting Ukraine in the rebuilding of its infrastructure is Nippon Koei Co., Ltd., a comprehensive engineering consultancy firm from Japan. People from the firm spoke about its involvement in Ukraine and the country's reconstruction.

Japan's innovative catalyst enables local production of ammonia

Ammonia has wide-ranging applications, such as fertilizer or other chemical products, and has been garnering attention in recent years as a zero-emission fuel. Tsubame BHB has developed a small-scale plant that can synthesize ammonia at low temperatures, low pressure, and low cost. What innovations is the company eyeing for the future?

Video library

Support for landmine removal

Landmine removal is an important issue for Ukraine's post-war reconstruction. JICA's more than 20 years of expertise in providing equipment and technical assistance in Cambodia and Japan's cutting-edge technology to detect landmines quickly and efficiently are contributing to the safety of the Ukrainian people.

Support for the cultural and artistic revival

Many museums, theaters and historical buildings are currently being destroyed, causing significant damage in Ukraine. Japan is working through an international organization to support the protection and restoration of cultural heritage. Japan has also been providing equipment and assistance through the framework of the Grant Assistance for Cultural Grassroots Projects, one of which is the support provided to the National Opera & Ballet Theatre of Ukraine. Many donations from Japanese ballet fans are being sent to this theater.

Support in establishing a disaster medical system

Ukraine faces the issue of providing adequate medical care in these times of difficulty. The Japanese government invited Ukrainian medical officials to Japan to provide DMAT (Disaster Medical Assistance Team) expertise as part of its support. Japan is contributing to Ukraine's recovery by leveraging its unique experience in disaster recovery.